BIG BATTLE APPROACHING A CRITICAL PHASE TODAY

GERMANS BEGIN GENERAL ASSAULT ON BRITISH POSITIONS AROUND YPRES.

(By the Associated Press)

The Germans today began what seems to be a general assault on British positions on the Kemmel front, southwest of Ypres, opening a new phase of the great Flanders drive. Apparently the crucial test of the allied holding power is at hand. A preliminary bombardment, beginning early this morning, took in a ten mile front from Meteren, west of Bailleul, to Voormozelle, two miles south of Ypres. An infantry action developed shortly afterward, probably to mask the real purpose of the. The Germans last night heavily bombarded the southern portion of the battle front from Givenchy to Neippe wood, but no infantry actions are reported.

Germans After Ypres.

With the British Army in France, April 29.—The fourth German army this morning heavily attacked the allied front in Flanders. Prisoners captured have admitted that the German intention is the capture of Ypres. Severe fighting is reported both in the French and British areas. The attack extends over a fifteen mile front. Belgians on the Ypres front have also been attacked.

German Artillery Roaring.

London, April 29.—An intense bombardment from artillery concentrations is progressing from Labassee to the south forest and from Vimy to Lens.

MORE TROUBLE FOR RUSSIA

PETROGRAD THREATENED UNLESS TERMS OF EXCHANGE OF PRISONERS ACCEPTED.

(By the Associated Press)

Washington, April 29.—Germany has demanded of Russia an exchange of prisoners and has threatened to take Petrograd unless the Russian government agrees to terms advanced for the exchange, the state department has learned. Germany, the state department dispatches add, is sending a commission of 115 members to Russia to present the demands.

SHIP CARRYING Y.M.C.A. WORKERS TORPEDOED

(By the Associated Press)

London, April 29.—A party of fifty-seven American army Y. M. C. A. workers, under Arthur E. Hungerford arrived in London last night. The ship on which they sailed was torpedoed yesterday morning and sank within twelve minutes. All passengers and all but three of the crew were saved.

GERMANS MAKE NO HEADWAY

ALLIES REPULSE ATTACKS AND RECAPTURE ONE POST HELD BY GERMANS.

(By the Associated Press)

London, April 29.—Germans this morning opened a heavy bombardment with high explosive and gas shells on the entire front between Meteren and Voormezeele, south and southwest of Ypres, the war office announces. Infantry attacks developed shortly afterward. An enemy attack which developed yesterday afternoon in Locre vicinity, west of Mount Kemmel, was repulsed. There was great hostile artillery activity during the night from the river Scarpe, opposite Arras, north of Lens and between Givenchy and Nieppe wood, on the southern side of the Lys battle front. A post near Festubert, north of Givenchy, taken by the Germans last week, was recaptured by the British last night, and over fifty prisoners taken. Raiding operations farther south brought the British other prisoners and four machine guns.

Germans Held Up.

Paris, April 29.—The Germans made several attempts last night to advance on French positions in Hangard wood on the front before Amiens, but were checked by French fire, the war office announces.

RUMORS OF RUSSIAN COUNTER REVOLUTION

Stockholm, April 28.—Correspondents of Swedish newspapers in Finland telegraph persistent rumors in circulation there of important happenings in Russia.

The most definite rumor declares that the former Grand Duke Alexis, son of the former emperor, has been declared emperor with Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovitch as regent, and that the new government will refuse to recognize the bolshevik peace treaty with Germany.

The rumors would be disregarded here were it not for the fact that a report from Vasa, Finland, last Thursday, declared that the transportation of Russian civilian prisoners had to be suspended "because of current disorders in Russia."

Finland and Sweden have had no telegraphic communication with Russia in more than three weeks.

The Red Cross now has abundant gauze for any number of workers. The new gauze is very coarse and requires more time to make it into compresses so as to continue our regular output we must increase our workers. Leave some duties at home and come to the work room and help. If we do not win this war where will your homes be? It is either work for your country now or for the Germans later. You surely do not want a yellow streak painted on your house as they do to the slackers in the Liberty Loan and Red Cross drives.

CUSSING UNCLE SAM IS COSTLY

WHEELS OF JUSTICE MOVE QUICKLY IN CASE OF G. W. HOLLABEE.

Cussing the Liberty Bonds and the president and lauding the mental powers of the kaiser Sunday at Horseshoe ranch cost G. W. Hollabee a fine of $50 and a thirty day jail sentence which will be spent on the roads. The alleged offense took place Sunday when Hollabee, the only man on the ranch who had not bought bonds, was urged to come across. Without further ado Y. Q. McCammon, manager of the ranch, put him in an auto and with a witness or two came to Ada where Hollabee was lodged in jail. Disturbing the peace was the only charge that could be lodged against him, except in federal court. He pleaded guilty to this and Judge Brown assessed the penalty mentioned. If further proceedings had they must be taken by the federal authorities.

George Graham, arrested some days ago on suspicion of being a German agent, pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy and was given a sentence of 30 days in jail.

Enters Red Cross Work.

Miss Treadwell, one of Ada's most accomplished and talented musicians, has volunteered for Red Cross work and has been accepted at the University Hospital at Norman. This means sacrificing her musical career and a hard course of three years, unless called to the front sooner, for which she will receive little more than her board. She will leave Friday to assume her duties.

A map in Sunday's Oklahoman indicated that only sixteen counties of the state have not yet gone over the top in the Liberty Loan campaign, but it is stated that the work is being pushed vigorously in all of them and that there is yet hope that every county in the state will go over. The ones still behind are Woods, Harper, Woodward, Lincoln, Wagoner, Adair, Pushmataha, Atoka, Bryan, Johnston, Marshall, Murray, Stephens, Jefferson, Kiowa and Tillman. Most of the campaign closes May 4 it is believed all will have a part in the honor of having placed Oklahoma in the lead in the matter of oversubscriptions. It is cause for congratulation that Pontotoc county was among the first to go above her quota.

It is reported that a counter revolution has broken out in Petrograd having as its object the placing of the son of the former czar on the throne with his uncle as regent. In view of the chaos now reigning it is highly probable that the movement will gain some momentum, especially if backed by German bayonets. It has been the history of most nations that two or three attempts at self government had to be made before the people reached the point where they were capable of running things themselves, and Russia will in all probability prove no exception to the rule. However, having once tasted freedom, they will never again submit to the intolerable tyranny that characterized the rule of the czars in times past, just as the French rose in revolt in 1830 and 1848 and drove their restored kings from the throne when they sought to revert to the practices prevailing prior to the first revolution.

PONTOTOC'S FUEL

These citizens of Pontotoc county who use coal as fuel would do well to get their next winter's supply stored at an early moment. Oklahoma has a mighty supply of coal. This master fuel underlies hundreds of acres yet untouched. There is no shortage of coal. The problem last winter was not shortage of coal but shortage of transportation facilities. That shortage has not yet been relieved, and it will probably not be relieved until the war is over. To carry food and clothing and soldiers to the sea and gulf ports taves the railroad facilities. There are a few cars now that can be used for hauling coal. Whether they can be so used next winter is doubtful.

Those towns in the county having a good supply of wood in a few miles really ought to use wood. Wood cannot be shipped from the eastern part of the state to the western part, however, for it takes two cars to carry as much fuel in the form of wood as it does for one to carry in the form of coal. Since the wood and coal are in the same part of Oklahoma it would not be advisable to ship wood from Pontotoc county to Woods county or some other county on the west side. Those who are so situated that they can have wood hauled into town direct from the farms should burn wood, for in this case they are not using any of the shipping facilities.

At any rate, whether one intends to use coal or wood it will be well to make arrangements now. The farmers cannot get to handling wood before July or August at the earliest, but it would not be a bad idea for a resident of the towns to make a contract for delivery before cold weather.

THEY DID NOT KNOW

If one wants to be convinced that America is in the war heart and soul one has but to talk with citizens who were at first opposed to fighting. There are people in Pontotoc county who a year ago, on religious grounds, were opposed to the United States taking part in the struggle for world democracy. Those same individuals are now buying Liberty Bonds, donating to all the various war activities and some of them are getting anxious to have it out with the Huns in the trenches.

And that recalls a statement made recently by the governor of Utah. This man was born and partially reared in Germany. He says that most of the Germans in America are luke warm about the war because they do not understand just what it is all about. Honestly, we cannot see how anyone at all familiar with German political life and German ideals could be at sea as to what the war is all about. We do know that much of the antipathy to the war here about was due to lack of information.

This is an age of reading. The trouble with some people is, however, that their reading does not include a wide enough range. Some restrict their studies to religious matters, others to business matters. Almost every one now is reading about the war. He is learning just how near world domination the Hun is. He is learning that unless we win this war, his life will be but a miserable existence between birth and death.

The man who knows history, the man who has kept up with the news of the Huns since 1914, the man who holds dear his life and the sacredness of his home, the man who believes in self government and the tenets of faith laid down by early American patriots and still opposes the war, is a TRAITOR not only to the nation but to Christianity itself.

THE POLITICAL CAMPAIGN

The war is the one interesting thing before the American people. Everything else matters not if we do not win the war. But we should not forget that this election year has put forth every effort to elect good men to office. If there was ever a time when men of character, intellect and training were needed in office that time is now. With our boys dying on the battle fields of Europe, we must so regulate things at home that those who are left will have a good place to come back to.

Whether the office be a state, county or township matter, it ought to be filled with the most capable man available. One who has tainted his life with the spoils of office, one who is vacillating about moral questions, one who goes to church on Sunday and protects crooks in the week time, one who is not a red blooded American in every particular, one who has not put every dollar he could get into Liberty Bonds,

Red Cross and Y. M. C. A., these we do not want in office. While we work to win the war, we must take time to investigate the record, the life and the qualifications of those seeking an office.

ARTHUR GUY EMPEY
Machine Gunner Serving in France

(Copyright, 1917, by Arthur Guy Empey)

CHAPTER XX.

We were swimming in money, from the receipts of our theatrical venture, and had forgotten all about the war, when an order came through that our brigade would again take over their sector of the line.

The day that these orders were issued, our captain assembled the company and asked for volunteers to go to the Machine Gun school at St. Omar. I volunteered and was accepted.

Sixteen men from our brigade left for the course in machine gunnery. This course lasted two weeks and we rejoined our unit and were assigned to the brigade machine gun company. It almost broke my heart to leave my company mates.

The gun we used was the Vickers, Light 303, water cooled.

I was still a member of the Suicide club, having jumped from the frying pan into the fire. I was assigned to section 1, gun No. 2, and the first time "in" took position in the front-line trench.

During the day our gun would be dismounted on the fire step ready for instant use. We shared a dugout with the Lewis gunners. At "stand to" we would mount our gun on the parapet and go on watch beside it until "stand down" in the morning. Then the gun would be dismounted and again placed in readiness on the fire step.

We did eight days in the front-line trench without anything unusual happening outside of the ordinary trench routine. On the night that we were to "carry out," a bombing raid against the German lines was pulled off. This raiding party consisted of sixty company men, sixteen bombers, and four Lewis machine guns with their crews.

The raid took the Boches by surprise and was a complete success, the party bringing back twenty-one prisoners.

The Germans must have been awfully sore, because they turned loose a barrage of shrapnel, with a few "Minies" and "whizz bangs" intermixed. The shells were dropping into our front line like hailstones.

To get even, we could have left the prisoners in the fire trench, in charge of the men on guard and let them click Fritz's strafing but Tommy does not treat prisoners that way.

Five of them were brought into my dugout and turned over to me so that they would be safe from the German fire.

In the candlelight, they looked very much shaken, nerves gone and chalky faces, with the exception of one, a great big fellow. He looked very much at ease. I liked him from the start.

I got out the rum jar and gave each a nip and passed around some fags, the old reliable Woodbines. The other prisoners looked their gratitude, but the big fellow said in English, "Thank you, sir, the rum is excellent and I appreciate it, also your kindness."

He told me his name was Carl Schmidt, of the Sixty-sixth Bavarian Light Infantry; that he had lived six years in New York (knew the city better than I did), had been to Coney Island and many of our ball games. He was a regular fan. I couldn't make him believe that Hans Wagner wasn't the best ball player in the world.

From New York he had gone to London, where he worked as a waiter in the Hotel Russell. Just before the war he went home to Germany to see his parents, the war came and he was conscripted.

He told me he was very sorry to hear that London was in ruins from the Zeppelin raids. I could not convince him otherwise, for he didn't see moving pictures in one of the German cities of St. Pauli's cathedral in ruins.

I changed the subject because he was in bad luck in his bet. It was my intention to try and pump him for information as to the methods of the German snipers, who had been causing us trouble in the last few days.

I broached the subject and he shut up like a clam. After a few minutes he very innocently said:

"German snipers get paid rewards for killing the English."

I eagerly asked, "What are they?"

He answered:

"For killing or wounding an English private, the sniper gets one mark. For killing or wounding an English officer he gets five marks, but if he kills a Red Cap or English general, the sniper gets twenty-one days tied to the wheel of a limber as punishment for his carelessness."

Then he paused, waiting for me to bite, I suppose.

I bit all right and asked him why the sniper was punished for killing an English general. With a smile he replied:

"Well, you see, if all the English generals were killed, there would be no one left to make costly mistakes."

I shut him up, he was getting too fresh for a prisoner. After a while he winked at me and I winked back, then the escort came to take the prisoners, to the rear. I shook hands and wished him "The best of luck and a safe journey to Blighty."

I liked that prisoner, he was a fine fellow, had an Iron Cross, too. I advised him to keep it out of sight, or some Tommy would be sending it home to his girl in Blighty as a souvenir.

One dark and rainy night while on guard we were looking over the top from the fire step of our front-line trench, when we heard a noise immediately in front of our barbed wire. The sentry next to me challenged, "Halt, who comes there?" and brought his rifle to the aim. His challenge was answered in German. A captain in the next traverse climbed upon the sand-bagged parapet to investigate—a brave but foolhardy deed—"Crack" went a bullet and he tumbled back into the trench with a hole through his stomach and died a few minutes later. A lance corporal in the next platoon was so enraged at the captain's death that he chucked a Mills bomb in the direction of the noise with the shouted warning to us: "Duck your nappers, my lucky lads." A sharp dynamite report, a flare in front of us, and then silence.

We immediately sent up two star shells, and in their light could see two dark forms lying on the ground close to our wire. A sergeant and four stretcher-bearers went out in front and soon returned, carrying two limp bodies. Down in the dugout, in the flickering light of three candles, we saw that they were two German officers, one a captain and the other an "unteroffizier," a rank one grade higher than a sergeant general, but below the grade of lieutenant.

The captain's face had been almost completely torn away by the bomb's explosion. The unteroffizier was alive, breathing with difficulty. In a few minutes he opened his eyes and blinked in the glare of the candles.

The pair had evidently been drinking heavily, for the alcohol fumes were sickening and completely pervaded the dugout. I turned away in disgust, hating to see a man cross the Great Divide full of booze.

One of our officers could speak German and he questioned the dying man. In a faint voice, interrupted by frequent hiccoughs, the unteroffizier told his story.

There had been a drinking bout among the officers in one of the German dugouts, the main beverage being champagne. With a drunken leer he informed us that champagne was plentiful on their side and that it did not cost them anything either. About seven that night the conversation had turned to the "contemptible" English, and the captain had made a wager that he would hang his cap on the English barbed wire to show his contempt for the English sentries. The wager was accepted. At eight o'clock the captain and he had crept out into No Man's Land to carry out this wager.

They had gotten about halfway across when the drink took effect and the captain fell asleep. After about two hours of vain attempts the unteroffizier had at last succeeded in waking the captain, reminded him of his bet, and warned him that he would be the laughing stock of the officers' mess if he did not accomplish his object, but the captain was trembling all over and insisted on returning to the German lines. In the darkness they lost their bearings and crawled toward the English trenches. They reached the barbed wire and were suddenly challenged by our sentry. Being too drunk to realize that the challenge was in English, the captain refused to crawl back. Finally the unteroffizier convinced his superior that they were in front of the English wire. Realizing this too late, the captain drew his revolver and with a muttered curse fired blindly toward our trench. His bullet no doubt killed our captain.

Then the bomb came over and there he was, dying—and a good job too, we thought. The captain dead? Well, his men wouldn't weep at the news.

Without giving us any further information the unteroffizier died.

We searched the bodies for identification disks but they had left everything behind before starting on their foolhardy errand.

Next afternoon we buried them in our little cemetery apart from the graves of the Tommy's. If you ever go into that cemetery you will see two little wooden crosses in the corner of the cemetery set away from the rest.

They read:

OKLAHOMA FAR ABOVE LIBERTY BOND QUOTA

Oklahoma City, April 29.—Oklahoma's oversubscription to the third Liberty loan is now approximately $6,000,000. Unofficial reports received up to Saturday night show the state's contribution, in round numbers, to be $5,500,000. Oklahoma's quota was $29,033,200.

Sixty-one counties of the state have now oversubscribed, while sixteen are lagging in campaign results. Every county in the state "over the top" before the end of the week, is the hope of Liberty loan campaigners. The third loan drive is to close May 4, it has been announced, and by that time it is believed every county in the new state will show a perfect record.

To attain that end, the energies of the state campaign will be centered upon the lagging ones. Nine counties passed the goal during the past week and one other, Choctaw, had already oversubscribed at the time last Sunday's report was compiled although the figures, which were obtained from district headquarters at Dallas.

The counties which went over during the week are: Creek, Nowata, Osage, Pawnee, Okfuskee, Okmulgee, Cotton, Ellis and Beckham. Creek county's total subscription now is $1,106,300. The county's quota was $446,000. Nowata trebled its quota of $261,000, with a total subscription of $600,000.

Several counties are near the goal and will go over within the next few days, it is said. Wagoner, Kiowa, Tillman, Stephens, Atoka and Adair are among these. Stephens county had less Saturday than a week before according to the county chairman, Tom Wade, because some banks of the county had refused to lend money to permit subscribers to pay the amounts they had pledged, but Mr. Wade expressed confidence that his county would more than raise its quota before the end of the campaign. Stephens' quota is $344,700, its subscriptions $341,000. Kiowa has subscribed $370,000 toward a quota of $285,400. Atoka has subscribed $130,000 toward a quota of $141,900. Bryan is struggling with a quota of $672,000 and has raised so far a total of $575,300.

WHY AMERICA FIGHTS

GERMANY SUMMARIZED
Washington, D. C., April 29.—"If Democracy is conquered in this war, all free peoples must either submit to Germany's domination or else give up a part of their democracy in order to resist her. We must fight Germany in Europe with help, that we may not have to fight her here in America without help."

In a booklet entitled, "Why America Fights Germany," issued by the Committee on Public Information today, Professor J. S. P. Tatlock, of Stanford University, thus sets forth the fundamental reason for our participation in the war. He shows how Germany has drowned our citizens, sunk our ships, intrigued against us, outraged our sentiments of right and humanity by her unspeakable outrages in Belgium and France, founded as they are on deliberate principle and precept. He adds, "If we had not fought Germany after her false and brutal conduct, we should have been despised by all the world, including the Germans."

The publication may be obtained free by writing to the Committee on Public Information at 8 Jackson Place, Washington, D. C.

BEBEE

Cotton planting is the order of the day. Mrs. Whitson, who has been very ill for the past month, is no better at this time.

The box supper at the school house Saturday night was a success. There were not very many boxes, but the proceeds were $46.75. This went to buy Thrift Stamps.

Mrs. G. N. Waldbly made a nice cake which was sold to the highest bidder at the box supper. It brought $15.75, which will go to the Red Cross.

We thank each and everyone who helped in the box supper, as the proceeds went to good cause.

Beebe has gone "over the top" in every patriotic campaign and she will be well represented in the Red Cross campaign that comes in May.

Aunt Dovie Scott was visiting her son, Harrison, at Westell Sunday. There has been several cases of measles in this community. Ercele and Hazel Roddy have them now.

Josef Raines and Etta Waldbly of E. C. N. were visiting in their homes this week.

Bevo Now Being Handled by Hale-Halsell Gro. Co.
Announcement is made of the appointment of Hale-Halsell Gro. Co. as the local distributors for Bevo, most tremendously successful soft drink put out by Anheuser-Busch.

The acquisition of this distributing agency is a real business stroke on the part of Hale-Halsell Gro. Co. Bevo, the result of a big idea, is a product that is entirely out of the ordinary—a scientifically perfect soft drink combination, of the soluble substances of fine hops and cereals. The delightful flavor and refreshing, appetizing quality of these ingredients are fully retained, and the beverage is doubly healthful because of its purity. Bacteria may be present in the milk or water we drink; but Bevo, which is boiled pure in the making, and then piped into sterilized bottles, and hermetically machine-sealed, reaches the consumer absolutely free from contamination of any description, whatsoever.

The demand these unusual merits have created all over the country is most strikingly attested by the magnificent new Bevo plant. This building, the need of which became apparent shortly after Bevo was introduced, is the largest and most elaborately up-to-date of its kind in the world. Figures in connection with it are impressive.

The new Bevo bottling and shipping plant represents an investment of millions. It is eight stories high, covers two whole blocks; contains twenty-six acres of floor space; has a capacity of 2,000,000 bottles a day and thirteen railroad tracks in the basement that accommodate 130 freight cars. The operation provides employment for about 2,500 persons.

Farmers and others who live at a distance from a drug store should keep in the home a bottle of BALSAM'S SNOW LIMENT. It may be needed at any time for cuts, wounds, sores, sprains or rheumatism. It is a powerful healing and penetrating remedy. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Bart Smith, successor to Ramsey Drug Co.

DR. WILEY SUGGESTS ELECTRIC FAN FOR BABY

This authority on food and health, discussing in Good Housekeeping, means for reducing infant mortality, said:

"... the fan is an excellent apparatus for mitigating the suffering from heat. Air in motion carries away rapidly from the body heat that it absorbs or that is radiated into it. No cooling process of this kind can diminish the natural warmth of the body, but it can minimize the discomfort that the infant must endure from stagnant air. It is well that the current of the fan be not directly on the infant's face, but over it or to one side."

Have an Emerson Fan in every room for real convenience and comfort.

PRECINCT REGISTRARS FOR PONTOTOC COUNTY

J. A. Cowling, county registrar, has appointed precinct registrars for all but two voting boxes in Pontotoc county and these will be appointed at once. He has issued the following instructions to the precinct registrars:

"Those who have become 21 years of age since the last registration. Those who have moved into the state since the last registration and have been here long enough to vote. Those who have moved into the county or have changed counties or precincts since the last registration. All those who have changed politics. These are the ones who must register before they can vote.

"As you will remember when the court house burned at Ada most of the records were destroyed, therefore we would like for each voter in the county to register so as to complete the records again. The law says that a man must register before he can vote. If the records have been destroyed and he has lost his registration certificate then he might have some trouble in voting this summer, and as it will cost him nothing to register, I will ask that you do your utmost to get every one in and register them.

"The law provides a compensation of 5c per name for each registrant in the county and 3c for each name in cities of the first class.

"I would advise that you announce your intention of being at the school house one day. In this way you will not lose much time from your work, and it will simplify the problem a great deal."

Proclamation.

The welfare of the men and officers of the army, as well as the good of the state, demands that we spare no effort in safeguarding their health. We find it necessary therefore to face frankly and at once the problem of social diseases, which have proved a menace to the armies of all the other countries now at war.

Thanks to the thoroughness of our army officers, the problem is being met with effectiveness in the army camps, but owing to the fact that men are constantly being inducted into the service from civilian life and are frequently returning to their homes on furloughs, the welfare of the army demands also that the country take measures to remedy conditions outside of the army camps.

Education is the first essential to such action, and I therefore set aside one day, Sunday, May 5th, 1918, to be known as Social Hygiene Sunday. This action is endorsed by the War and Navy Departments, the National and State councils of defense and board of health. Through their cooperation, a general campaign of education on the origin of these diseases, their persistence, effect on later life and on innocent members of society will be carried on. I ask that all ministers give one service on this day to appropriate sermons on social hygiene and that they, as well as all teachers and heads of civic organizations, co-operate with civil and military authorities in initiating educational and recreational activities necessary to meet the problem.

I call also on all public officials to use every means in their power to stamp out prostitution and commercialized vice, and appeal to all citizens to aid them in this work.

Done and dated at the State Capital on this 15th day of April, A. D. 1918.
R. L. WILLIAMS,
The Governor of the State of Oklahoma.

Attest: J. L. Lyon, Sec'y. of State.

Merely Pride.

I remember when working in a flower garden was looked upon as a hellish way for a man to earn money. One man hired to dig, threw down his spade when told a place for flowers was being made, declaring, "I ain't got so low as to earn my victuals making a pretty bed!"—Elizabeth Eddy Norris, in the House Beautiful.

PUBLIC ROADS

DRAG PREPARES GOOD ROADS

Length and Position of Hitch, and Position of Driver Are of Much Importance.

(By H. L. THOMPSON, Oklahoma Experiment Station, Stillwater.)

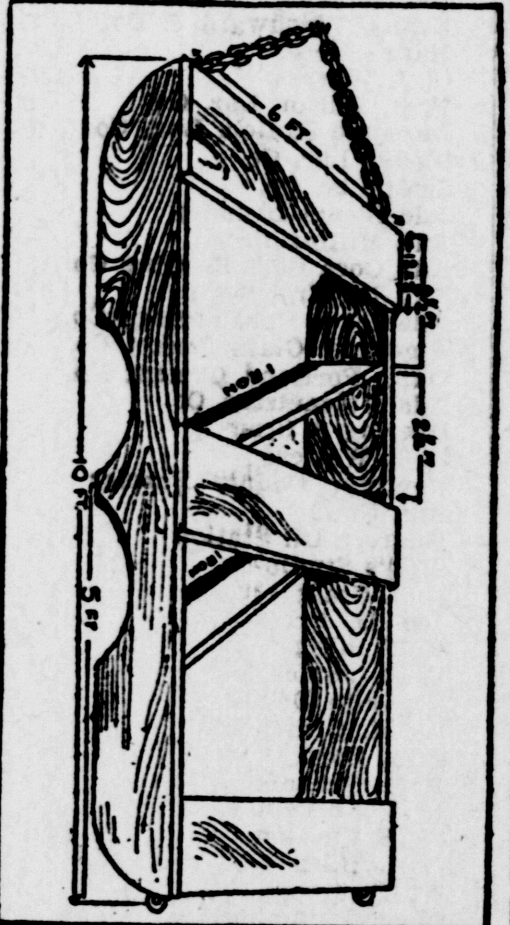

The successful handling of the drag on the road depends on two principles. These are the length and position of the hitch, and the position of the driver on the drag.

For ordinary work the clevis should be fastened far enough on the chain toward the ditch end of the blade to force the unloaded drag to follow the team at about an angle of 45 degrees. This will cause the earth to move smoothly along the face of the drag and will make the driver light on the line of draft. If small weeds are to be cut, or if the furrow of earth in the ditch is to be moved, the hitch should be attached rather close on the chain to the ditch end of the drag. This will cause the drag to move nearly ditch-end foremost. The driver should put his weight on the extreme forward end of the front blade, which will make the drag swing back to the proper angle and make the blade plow.

For such work the team should be driven slowly and carefully to keep the drag from dipping forward. If a wet spot is met, the driver should shift his weight backward so as not to dig too deeply. If the blade becomes clogged with straw or weeds it can be made to clean itself usually if the driver shifts his weight as far as possible from the ditch end of the blade. If there is a low place or a mudhole to be filled the drag can be made to drop its load of earth if the driver shifts his weight quickly from the ditch end.

The distance from the drag at which the team is hitched affects the depth of cutting. A long hitch causes the blade to cut deeper and is used often when a rough road is to be smoothed up. Shortening the chain seems to lift the furrow blade from the ground and makes lighter cutting when doing light smoothing work.

For a new road with bumps and holes the three-blade steel drag is excellent, as it carries considerable earth and will not drop into the ruts or holes as badly as a two-blade drag. However, it usually requires four horses. The team should ride the whole distance, going up one wheel track and back the other. It is a mistake to try to improve too wide a strip at one time. The best work can be done by the drag when the soil is moist, but not sticky, so the earth will move freely along the face of the blades. If the roadway is very badly rutted it may be well to drag it when the earth is wet. This is particularly true just before a spell of cold weather in winter when it is possible to have a road-way to freeze smooth.

Clay hills after considerable dragging frequently become too high in the center. This can be corrected by dragging the earth away from the center once and toward the center twice. The road drag is only good in clay or similar soils, as its effectiveness depends on the smearing action which it has and by means of which it can make a water-tight coat. The sand road will be injured by crowding it toward the center and dragging because the sand road needs all the moisture it can hold, and a crown will drain this moisture away.

Fellow Test Directions.

One reason why people do not get better results from testing is that they do not follow directions. They try to make a short cut to save time, but sacrifice thereby accuracy in the test.

Call for Dairy Cattle.

The call for dairy cattle is more money making than the demand for beef cattle.

CHICAGO RED CROSS LOOKS AFTER SOLDIERS

(By the Associated Press)

Chicago, April 29.—Tired and travel worn, dust begrimed from long tedious hours spent in packed coaches, soldiers of the United States traveling through this city are being cheered most effectively by the "canteen service" of the Chicago Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Steaming coffee, sandwiches prepared by mothers many of whose sons are in France, chocolates, home-made cookies, magazines, books, and tobacco—all these are given to the traveling troops.

For several months the service has been conducted under secret orders, the Red Cross being notified an hour in advance of the arrival of all trains carrying boys in khaki. Members of the unit are the only persons in Chicago, informed in this manner of the movement of the soldiers.

Women of social note have been most active in this volunteer work. The success of the service is attested by the erection, now under way, of the "Triple A" building, which will become the headquarters of the unit.

Distribution of food delicacies, tobacco and reading matter, however, is not the entire scope of the unit. Service is the watchword. Postcards are supplied the men that they may write home. Messages are taken and promptly attended to by members of the unit. Many soldiers give the workers telephone numbers to call just for a friendly "hello" to acquaintances and relatives.

When word is received of the imminent arrival of a troop train, automobiles the use of which is given for this work, are sent with well filled baskets to the depot. The workers pass the baskets through the coaches and gain reward for their efforts from the unqualified delight that shines from every bronzed face.

MEASURE SUGAR BY TEASPOONFULS

Three pounds of sugar per month per person.

That's the limit set by the Food Administration.

There are 180 heaping teaspoons of sugar in three pounds. This means six teaspoons per person each day, or two per meal. But it takes at least half of the three pounds for cooking. This leaves only half as much for table use, or about one teaspoon per meal per person.

We cannot do without sugar better than the boys in the trenches and the people who very little of the other foods to eat. Let's sweeten their cups by saving, not make them bitter by eating more than our share of the sugar. He who wastes sugar is a slacker.

MAY SELL HENS

The Food Administration has lifted the ban on selling or killing hens. The restriction ended at midnight, Friday, April 19th.

FOOD NOTES

"Give us this day our daily bread," is the unanimous prayer of the millions who are fighting our battles for us "over there."

We'll substitute corn for wheat and victory for defeat.

Are you helping our soldiers or the Hun at meal time?

The breadline must be supported by the women, the boys and the girls.

A fat person is a slacker—unless he lives on substitutes.

Potatoes are plentiful. Put more on the menu.

Habit is a difficult thing to break. But the patriotic citizen will let no eating habits stand in his way when the people who are fighting his battles are hungry.

Many school teachers report that their students have signed pledges to raise pigs, chickens and gardens to help whip the Kaiser.

Odorless Benzene Possible. Benzene is very useful for the removal of grease spots and various other stains. Its odor, however, is very disagreeable to the average housewife.

This can be completely removed by repeatedly shaking up the benzene with a plumbate of soda solution and recasting it. The plumbate of soda is made by dissolving litharge in caustic soda.—Popular Science Monthly.

Famous Along Two Lines.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle was a doctor before he became famous as the creator of Sherlock Holmes. He followed his profession at Southsea in the eighties, and for his services as a field hospital in the Boer war he received the thanks of the government.

Remarkable "Apology."

An attorney addressed the court as "gentlemen," instead of "your honors," after he had concluded a brother of the bar reminded him of his error. He immediately rose and apologized thus: "May it please the court, in the heat of debate I called you honorable gentlemen. I made a mistake, yet honors, and humbly apologize."

ARMENIAN RACE MAY BE EXTERMINATED BY TURKS.

Paris, April 29.—Boghoss Nubar said today that he had received news from Armenia confirming the recent reports that Turkey was taking methodical measures to annihilate the race in every locality which the Turks have reoccupied. All Armenians are being put to death, he stated, and unless it is possible to intervene at Anzli, president of the Armenian National delegation who is now in Paris early date, the Armenian race may be exterminated.

SURGEONS agree that in cases of Cuts, Burns, Bruises and Wounds, the FIRST TREATMENT is most important. When an EFFICIENT antiseptic is applied promptly, there is no danger of infection and the wound begins to heal at once. For use in man or beast, BOROZONE is the IDEAL ANTISEPTIC and HEALING AGENT. Buy it now and be ready for an emergency. Price 25c, 50c, $1.00 and $1.50. Sold by Bart Smith, successor to Ramsey Drug Co.
